Elizabeth Wohleber
Hexagon AB

Dear Elizabeth Wohleber,

I am looking for a job. I am a recent computer science graduate. I pick up new technology and learn them for fun. For example, I taught myself Docker so I could host video game servers.

I started programming with Java in high school. I have a basic understanding of Javascript, having programmed with it in the past professionally. I would be willing to learn Vue and .NET. I am comfortable with Rest APIs. I ran two PostgreSQL databases for different university projects. Kubernetes is a technology I am extremely impressed by. I haven't played with it yet.

I set up my first minecraft server when I was 9. I like learning on my own and only ask questions when needed. I try to keep my writing and conversations concise and to the point.

If you are interested in speaking further, I would greatly appreciate an email.

Thank you,
Rowan Torbitzky-Lane
